FORMER JOHNSON COUNTY WOMAN DIED MONDAY

The Ashland Independent says: Mrs. Mary Kimbler, wife of John H. Kimbler of Keys creek, died Monday evening at the Kings Daughters' hospital in Ashland from the effect of burns sustained that morning when her clothing took fire from a gas stove at her home.

Mrs. Kimbler was terribly burned on Sunday morning while busy about a gas stove. The flames caught her clothing and enveloped her from head to foot. She was hurried to the hospital as quickly as possible where everything was done to alleviate her suffering and she passed away at the hour stated.

The body was taken to the home of Mr. Robinson at Clydesdale, a brother of the deceased. The funeral was held at Sitka, Johnson co., on Wednesday at two p. m. Mrs. Kimbler was thirty-seven years of age. She leaves her husband and five children, the oldest being a daughter of fifteen years, the youngest a babe just two months old.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE.

Miss Blanch May Bromley, the bride elect, was honored on Monday afternoon by Miss Helen C. Vinson who called together a number of young ladies at her home on Franklin street. They spent a few hours very pleasantly chatting and hemming tea towels for the bride.

An elegant plate luncheon was served by Miss Vinson and her mother, Mrs. George R. Vinson.

It was an interesting group of girls, nearly half of the number being on the spring list of brides to be and doubtless there are those among the others who are planning that their announcement come as a surprise.

The guests include Misses Blanche and Sue Bromley, Agnes Abbott, Gladys Land, Hattie Carter, Clara Bromley, Opal Spencer, Julia D. Snyder, Roberta Dixon, Lou Chaffin, Vivian Hays and Virginia Hager.

New Wells Drilled in the Local Field

A well on the Felix Fyffe farm, in the upper Blaine field, drilled by the Union Gas & Oil company, is a big producer. It has been flowing ever since it was drilled in.

A gas well drilled on the John A. Dorton farm, on upper Keaton, is estimated to be good for more than a million feet per day.

His sisters arrived here to-day with papers proving that he was 21 to-day, so he was released from prison.

Location of Mayo Trail Settled by State Board

Injunction Filed by County Attorney of Lawrence Stops Work on the Entire Project.

January 20, 1921.
To The Citizens of Lawrence Co.:
Mr. Joe S. Boggs, State Highway Engineer, has approved the location of the Mayo Trail through Lawrence co., as follows:

Beginning at Bolts Fork at the Boyd county line and by way of Estep, Vessie, Fallsburg to Louisa, thence up Lick creek, Patrick Gap, Georges creek by Lowmansville to the Johnson county line.

This decision was rendered upon my location and Mr. Pearsoll, Division Engineer's approval for the following reasons, mainly the route from Louisa to Johnson county line:

FIRST:—The route as approved was first voted upon by the people of the county when the bond election was held.

SECOND:—The cost of construction is very much less than any other route.

THIRD:—There are fewer hills or mountains to cross and thereby less expensive to the public in traveling over same.

FOURTH:—and most important is, the maintenance on the road would be fifty per cent less than any other route.

This is the final decision and the question of route is settled as far as the State Highway Department is concerned.
M. E. S. POSEY,
Division Engineer.

Injunction Stops Map Work.

To the Citizens of Lawrence County: Please note the following letterhead from Ashland, Ky., Jan. 25, 1921.

Mr. J. C. Jolley,
Chief Draftsman,
Office.

Dear Sir:—I just received a wire that there was an injunction served in Lawrence County prohibiting the county from issuing bonds in accordance with their donation to the State this month.

In as-much as this injunction might tie up Lawrence county's road work for this year, I think it is advisable to stop all office work of the Mayo Trail through Lawrence county until I advise later.

Yours very truly,
M. E. S. POSEY,
Division Engineer.
Copy to Judge Billy Riffe,
Louisa, Kentucky.

Statement From Mr. Posey.

I wish to make the following statement to the Lawrence county citizens: Our department has not the money to pay the draftsman for completing the plans and drawing of the Mayo Trail unless your county pays for same in accordance with the last order passed by your fiscal court. These plans have been in accordance with the advice of your fiscal court by March 10 in order to get work contracted by May 1 so as to hold the appropriation of $125,000 which your court passed in December. This injunction prevents your Trustee, Billie Riffe, from paying for said drawing; also, from paying the estimates each month in accordance with the Fiscal Court's order.

There will be nothing done anywhere in Lawrence county until this is either dismissed or settled.

Your Fiscal Court has acted wisely and everything they have done has been in accordance with the advice of counsel and the Attorney General and is lawful.

Is Lawrence county going to be the stumbling block to the whole Big Sandy Valley, also to Virginia and Tennessee, who are meeting now to build from Jenkins to Charleston, S. C., and also to Knoxville so they can get out to Ashland and to the north and east?

Lawrence county citizens are now facing the problem of either talking a progressive step or else going backward, and remaining in the mud for years.

The whole State is watching you and it is a question for you citizens to decide, as your Fiscal Court has passed the necessary orders and is now enjoined by your County Attorney.

Are you in favor of this National Highway or do you prefer to remain in the mud and be a stumbling block to the whole valley?

Are you so selfish that if it does not pass your door you prefer the whole county to lose the road and probably the whole Sandy Valley? Do you want them, Floyd and Pike county citizens to go by Salsersville, West Liberty, Frenchburg, and Mt. Sterling instead of coming through your county?

Do you want to close your county up and not allow the citizens of the north and south to pass through your county and you citizens to be bottled up all to yourselves?

You must wake up and take a hand immediately to furnish the money to complete the plans and furnish the amount as ordered by your Fiscal Court or else lose the National Highway through your county.

We have located it, tried to advise you and help you, but if we meet with opposition every time we try to help you we will be forced to stop and spend our efforts in some county that wants roads.

Your Fiscal Court and Advisory Committee have done their duty, now get behind them, help fight the injunction and the parties behind it who are trying to kill the progress being made to pull Lawrence county out of the mud.
M. E. S. POSEY.

Virginia Wants To Connect.

Big Stone Gap, Va., Jan. 15, 1921.

M. E. S. Posey.

Dear Sir:—I wish to point out to you the opportunity you fellows have to add 100 per cent more prestige to the Mayo Trail, which we think will be one of the most important highways in the whole south.

The present effort of our good roads boosters is brand new. This meeting is the first of a series of meetings planned. The foundation for this organization was a Knoxville-Washington Highway through the Kentucky coal fields down the Big Sandy. I doubly urge on you to rally a bunch of your boosters and see if it is possible to meet us half way. I would urge that what action you do take will be given generous space in your local paper and sample copies be sent to the enclosed list of recognized leaders who have given real evidence of their interest. We must find some way to let our people know the facts, both your people and our people.

Do you and your good roads boosters know that John Chawkey of Big Stone Gap is the daddy of good roads in the south, and our county, Wise, blazed the way twelve years ago with a $700,000 bond issue? It is the same J. W. Chawkey, who is leading this drive to meet you fellows at the Kentucky line at Jenkins.

Wm. R. Ponder, manager of the Knoxville Board of Commerce, and Willie Baker, Pres. Knoxville Automobile Club, and Howell J. Davis, Pres. Knoxville Board of Commerce, are giving the heartiest moral support.

You call some kind of a committee meeting and give us some dope on what you fellows on the Big Sandy are doing so our leaders will have a better knowledge of the immense opportunity before us all. We must wake up to the vast possibilities of a bigger, broader and wider co-operation.

The big push to get the Lee Highway fixed and financed is going to take the wind out of our sails. It runs from Washington to Knoxville, and the big meeting in Knoxville January 17. Bill Ponder of Knoxville says Knoxville don't know about the Kentucky possibility. You and I will try to let them know. One ounce of initiative is worth a million. Do it in the press.

We are coming to meet you at the Kentucky line at Jenkins. We can't get real government money till we all pull together in mass formation. Will you do your part? You and Ashland can and must lead the way. Will you make a try for it?

Very truly,
W. G. COUTTS.

The Injunction.

It is said the injunction filed by the County Attorney is part of an effort to defeat the entire Mayo Trail enterprise. Already it has had the effect of stopping work on the plans. It is giving the best possible aid to those who are trying to divert it to the route leading from Paintsville to West Liberty and Mt. Sterling.

It is hardly necessary to recite here the extent of the calamity that the loss of this Federal road would be to Lawrence county. This should be evident to every citizen and should cause a general protest.

Is it any wonder that Lawrence county lost 3000 population between 1910 and 1920? And the worst of it is that the most of this loss is made up of the best class of citizens who grew sick and tired of the narrow policies, the incompetency and the small jealousies that have prevented any progress in road building or other important enterprises.

If the injunction game should prove effectual in defeating the greatest enterprise that ever came within reach of the Big Sandy valley the NEWS will cite the people of Lawrence county to one or more opportunities to use the injunction in a better place.

Co-operation Needed.

What the citizenship of this county needs is a broader vision and a better spirit of co-operation; less of the "dog in the manger" attitude, and less patent politics.

The Mayo Trail is not the only hard road within the grasp of Lawrence county. Nothing can keep us from getting more hard roads except falling out amongst ourselves and arraying one section of the county against another. The bitterness and loss of common sense that results from such a course will defeat any good proposition.

The NEWS has heretofore explained the favorable position we are in to get State aid on other roads if we all pull together. We have neither time nor space to repeat it here, but will have more to say about it from time to time. "Public office is a public trust and not a private snap."

Every county needs officials who do not assume to be dictators, but prefer to be servants of the people; who are broad enough to act only for the county at large; who do not attempt to block the will of the people and the action of the courts; who do not use their offices for selfish purposes or political advantage; who are willing to have good roads almost given to the county; who will admit that professional engineers of reputation and integrity can best locate the roads; who realize their limitations in dictating to the State and Federal governments.

Wedding of Miss Bromley and Mr. W. B. Trevillian

One of the prettiest and most interesting events of the season took place on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock when Miss Blanch May Bromley became the bride of Mr. Wm. B. Trevillian. The scene of the wedding was the Baptist Church in Louisa which had been effectively decorated for the occasion. The choir loft and chancel was separated from the main auditorium by a pleasing arrangement of green and white crepe paper, a gateway leading to the chancel. Ferns and baskets of roses furnished the adornment for the choir enclosure. The ushers were Messrs. G. W. McAlpin, E. L. Wellman, W. T. Cain, Jr., G. R. Burgess, L. G. Lunquist and A. R. Plummer.

From a side door Misses Elizabeth Conley and Agnes Abbott, Mrs. G. R. Vinson and Mr. W. T. Cain, Jr., entered, taking places near the piano. Mr. Cain sang in his usual good voice, "O Promise Me." Miss Elizabeth Conley played the accompaniment.

With Mrs. G. B. Vinson, pianist, and Miss Agnes Abbott, violinist, the march signaled the entrance of the bridal party. First came Miss Clara Bromley and Mr. G. R. Burgess, Miss Bromley marching down the left aisle and Mr. Burgess the right, followed by Miss Vivian Hays by the right aisle and Mr. W. T. Cain, Jr., the left. Next in the same order were Miss Margaret Lou Chaffin and Mr. L. G. Lunquist and Miss Helen Vinson and Mr. E. L. Wellman, taking their places near the altar.

Miss Sam Bromley, her sister's maid of honor, alone preceded the bride who entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Sam Bromley. They were joined at the altar by the groom and his brother, Mr. Norman Trevillian, of Charleston, W. Va., who served as best man, the two young men entering from the vestry.

The impressive words of the marriage ceremony were spoken by Rev. Chas. Fox Anderson, pastor of the church, the ring ceremony being used. After prayer was offered the bride and groom left the church by the left aisle, followed by the maid of honor and best man and brides maids and groomsmen.

The bride, always a handsome girl, was especially so on this occasion. She wore a traveling suit of blue embroidered duvetyne with squirrel collar and hat to match, black suede shoes and white gloves. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor was attired in blue tulle. Misses Clara Bromley and Helen Vinson also wore blue and Misses Vivian Hays and Lou Chaffin were dressed in brown. Their hats were of the large picture style. The flowers worn by each of the ladies of the bridal party, and those taking part in the music, were corsages of pink sweet peas.

The bride, who is a young lady of much beauty and possessed of unusual charm, has a wide circle of admiring friends. Many are the good wishes that follow her into married life.

Mr. Trevillian, formerly of Charleston, has been in Louisa the past year as manager of the Continental Supply Company, where he has shown himself to be an efficient and trustworthy man. He is a young man of excellent character and habits.

The bridal couple left over the C. & O. for Louisville and before returning to Louisa will go to Charleston, W. Va., for a visit. Upon their return here they will be at the Brunswick Hotel.

The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. Norman Trevillian and Miss Vivian Hays, of Charleston, and Mrs. Rowland Vernel, of Huntington, brother and sisters of the groom. Also, Mr. G. B. Skene and daughter of Petersburg, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. George W. McAlpin, of Pt. Pleasant, W. Va. These with members of the bridal party were entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bromley.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

The trouble with white socks is that you have to change them at least once a week or they won't hold their color.

As long as a woman looks well, she doesn't mind being ill. But it is different with a man.

Women have more sense than men. You never saw a woman shoveling food into her mouth with a knife, did you?

It is no trouble for a woman to keep a secret when she knows that everybody else knows it.

American are so fond of Flapdoodle and Bunk that it is a wonder we do not make the Humbug our National Bird.

A gabby woman will tell everything she knows except her age. And a gabby man will tell everything he knows, including his age.

A girl's ideal is soon shattered when she discovers that he is broke.

If a woman knew that she was going to fall out of an airplane she would want time to doll up her complexion and dress for the occasion.

When you see a man with a chip on his shoulder you don't have to examine his head to know where the chip came from.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

All the Bluefield churches are combined in advancing the plans for the big revival meetings.

DR. WINNES ON TRIAL AT HARLAN

Harlan, Ky., January 22.—Because of the slow progress made toward selection of a jury by counsel in the case of Dr. H. C. Winnes, former State Veterinarian, accused of having slain Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement School teacher, last September, Sheriff H. H. Howard today was sent into the mountains by Circuit Judge W. T. Davis to summon 100 additional takersmen from among whom attorneys might select additional jurors to try the prisoner.

More than 100 men were examined today, but their answers in regard to questions of counsel revealed an apparently unprecedented unanimity of sentiment, the feeling in the county being hostile to the prisoner.

Peremptory challenges and requests for excuses from jury duty became frequent as the element of prejudice became a potent factor in delaying the filling of the jury box.

That the jury would be completed Monday was the opinion expressed by attorneys for both the commonwealth and defense when court was adjourned at noon. Eleven tentative jurors had been selected after both the regular and a special venire had been exhausted.

Five men who had disregarded the Sheriff's order to appear in court today for jury service were fined $10 and costs each by Judge Davis.

Throughout the proceedings this morning Dr. Winnes was an interested though uninvolved spectator. Beside him sat Mrs. Winnes and his two daughters, Eleanor and Mildred, 18 and 16 years old, respectively. Mrs. Winnes and a brother of the prisoner came from Cincinnati to attend the trial.

She told reporters that she had not discussed the case with Dr. Winnes, and that she would not discuss the case for the press.

"My husband is in trouble," she said, "and although my 14-year-old son Bud is seriously ill in the scarlet fever ward of a Cincinnati hospital I am here because I wished to be with my husband."

"I hope the trial will be concluded in a hurry so I may return home and look after my boy."

Jerry Reed, negro convict, held to the grand jury when Dr. Winnes was bound over, has been dismissed. He was in the courtroom today under guard.

Jury Complete and Trial Begins.

Harlan, Ky., Jan. 24.—"Who Killed Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement School teacher, on a mountain trail four months and a half ago?" "We expect to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the crime was committed by Dr. H. C. Winnes, the defendant," Commonwealth's Attorney Grant Forrester told the jury this afternoon.

"She was murdered by one or more negro convicts, our proof will show." This is how Dr. C. Jones of counsel for the veterinarian answered the question in the opening statement for the defense. "Dr. Winnes is being persecuted instead of prosecuted," he said.

Jury Box Filled.

The jury has been impaneled. The introductory statement has been made. The State's first witness has testified "in the case of the Commonwealth against H. C. Winnes for the murder of Lura Parsons abruptly has switched from the drowning process of obtaining justice after nearly two days, to the untangling of the maze of circumstantial evidence."

The atmosphere of the courtroom underwent as abrupt a transformation. While the jury was being impaneled there were laughter, whispered conversation and shuffling of feet. Judicial ceremony was not strict. There is a hush now.

The spectators lean forward like runners on a mark. The silence is unbroken save by the voices of the examining lawyer and the witness being questioned.

The sheriff's command, "Let's have quiet," is no longer needed. Smoking has been put under the ban. The courtroom has taken on a serious solemn aspect.

Commonwealth Attorney Forrester read the indictment. Thirty minutes more was used by him to outline the State's case.

Prosecution's Case Outlined.

The chief alleged links in the chain of circumstantial evidence the prosecution hopes to entwine around the former Assistant State Veterinarian were outlined in the opening statement. The prosecution will seek to prove:

That after engaging Miss Parsons in conversation on the train to Dillon, Dr. Winnes, on leaving the train, offered to hire a mule for her. She refused.

That he was only fifteen minutes behind her in passing the convict camp, where the trail over the mountain starts; he was striking his mule and after getting direction at the camp started hurriedly up the trail. The prisoners and guards at the camp are the basis for this evidence that the doctor passed the camp about 12 o'clock and that it was an hour and a half later when he crossed to the negro Jerry Reed at the air compressor, ordinarily a fourteen-minute trip.

Doctor Long On Way.

That it took the doctor two hours longer to reach the school than it usually required and persons at the school are to testify as to time of arrival.

That reaching the school, he made several inquiries as to the mail. The prosecution will seek to connect this with the mailing of the package to Miss Parsons.

That persons at the school judged from his action and language he was drugged or intoxicated.

That he did not tell the women at the school of Miss Parsons or attempt to learn whether she had arrived until the next day.

That in returning across the mountain the next day, while not twenty steps from the spot where the woman was murdered, he asked a witness accompanying him whether they were pretty hard on persons here for outraging or murdering a woman.

Strange Actions Alleged.

That he acted strangely at the house where he spent the night and slept very little.

That, despite the fact he told searchers for Miss Parsons he would stay over and help find her if they did not succeed, he left on the early train the next morning without making further inquiry.

That mule tracks at the scene of the crime correspond with those of the mule he rode.

That he had positive direction to the Dillon trail intersecting the new pile on the mountain and the continuation of the trail across the pile was in plain view, whereas he said he turned down the pile to the air compressor, failing to see the extension of the trail.

That he asked the negro at the air compressor, "Is there no other way I can go except by the Dillon trail?"

That evidence will be introduced, according to Mr. Forrester's statement, that Dr. Winnes after killing the woman went back to the road so he could be seen down that way. This explains, also, Mr. Forrester said, why he wanted to go on some other trail.

"It will devolve on him to show where he was during that hour and a half between the time he passed the camp and reached the air compressor, and why it took him four hours to cross to the school," declared the Commonwealth's Attorney.

Defense's Side Outlined.

The defense, he said, would show that Dr. Winnes did not talk to Miss Parsons on the train.

That he expected Wilson Lewis, mule owner, Dillon, to accompany him across the mountain, showing he had no evil intentions toward Miss Parsons. That his attitude toward Miss Parsons was that of a gentleman, which prompted him to offer to hire a mule for her.

That she left Dillon almost immediately and that it was more than an hour later that the doctor left, as the man he sent a mile and a quarter away for the mule forgot his mission and ate dinner at his own home on the way down.

That the dirt road the doctor traveled from Dillon to the convict camp is a quarter of a mile longer than the railroad track, which Miss Parsons walked.

Doctor Meets Negro.

That after the doctor reached the convict camp, inquired the way across and started up the trail he came to the intersection of the pile road, where it is difficult to see the extension of a trail on the other side and the mule turned to the right.

That around the bend the doctor ran across the negro, Jerry Reed, who told him he was off the trail and sent him over Micealf trail, which intersects the Dillon trail some distance above where Miss Parsons was killed.

That the doctor did not arrive at the school at 4 o'clock but at 3 o'clock and that after he went to his room and changed his clothes and then went to the barn to test the cattle, it was only 3:45 o'clock by the watch of one witness and that this was the only witness who did not depend on memory to guess work to fix the time.

Reads He Is Suspected.

That when he returned to Frankfort and read in the newspapers that the woman's body had been found and he was suspected in the case, he immediately went to the Frankfort police and had them notify the Harlan authorities.

That he went to the scene of the crime with a crowd ready to mob with guns and clubs and showed no emotion whatever.

That a former guard at the convict camp will testify it was at least an hour between the time the teacher and the doctor passed the camp.

That the same guard will testify two negroes, five or ten minutes after Miss Parsons went up the trail, followed in a roundabout way and did not return until an hour and a half.

Guard Overheard Conversation.

That Sam Ellery, negro convict, who drove the dinner wagon on the pile and who had to cross the Dillon trail, told a white prisoner in the Frankfort Reformatory he saw Jerry Reed and two other negroes kill Miss Parsons.

That a guard at the reformatory overheard Ellery confide this to the white prisoner, although Ellery now denies it.

That convicts roamed at will through out the country and that any number of them had opportunity to commit the crime.

That half a dozen of them were not accounted for the day of the murder.

That maps of the scene of the crime were found concealed in the back of Sam Ellery.

During the severe statement, Mr. Jones declared that Jerry Reed is endeavoring to save his own hide, in referring to his testimony that the doctor did not reach the compressor at 1:30 o'clock.

It was at the close of Mr. Jones' statement that he said: "Dr. Winnes is being persecuted, not prosecuted."

With arrival today of Walter Parsons, gray-haired father of the murdered woman, the cast is complete. Mr. Parsons is 75 years old, his face furrowed with careworn wrinkles.

Dr. Winnes took a lively interest in proceedings today. He conferred with his attorneys in all of the eight peremptory challenges of jury.

When Attorney Byrd displayed a large map of the scene of the crime the veterinarian rose to his feet to get a good view. The first witness was Rufus Wilson, assistant superintendent of construction at the camp.

Wilson told of movements of convicts the day of the crime. The prosecution attempting to account for the

The Mayo Trail.

The NEWS took no part in the question of routes for the Mayo Trail until the engineer decided the matter. We agreed with several hundred men who stood up in the first meeting called by Mr. Posey last spring, pledging our support to him and agreeing to accept the route adopted, regardless of whether it was the route personally preferred or not. We all declared our faith in the honesty and judgment of Mr. Posey. It is now up to every one of us who took part in that meeting, to stand by the agreement.

Mr. Posey predicted that some people would fight and condemn him if the road failed to go their way, and also foretold other things that would happen, but when called upon to pledge themselves against such action, every man in that large and representative gathering arose and did so.

A majority of the Fiscal Court has kept faith with the expressed will of the people. They have been ready at all times to act for the best interests of the whole county. They have done all in their power to clinch for Lawrence county a gift of over a million dollars worth of hard roads, built and maintained perpetually without expense to the county, except the $125,000 voted by the people to be spent on these identical routes.

As to routes it is not reasonable to expect the State and Federal governments to zigzag very greatly in building a road through several counties. The Mayo Trail is to start at Ashland and go to Pikeville via the county seats thence to Pineville, and approval of the route must be made by the State and Federal engineering departments all the way. Therefore, it must be kept reasonably straight.

No man or woman can go far on the highway of life without coming to the parting of the ways. All along the way are forks in the road, and the decision has to be made which one to take. The guideposts are many, some truthful and pointing right, while others are false, and if you follow their advice will lead to calamity, despair and death. Pause whenever you come to a fork in the road, and be sure that you are on the right path before you go on.

In a paper printed in 1880 was the following:
"There are three things that a woman cannot do, viz: ride a horse like a man, go to war or vote."
That was only 40 years ago. Today women ride horses like men, vote, and in 1915 a great number went to war as Red Cross nurses. Y. M. C. A. entertainers, etc.

If the editor who wrote the above was here today, saw the short skirts, the women smoking and holding offices like men, he would write it: "There is nothing a woman can't nor won't do."

IT'S YOU.

If you want to have the kind of home town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike;
You'll only find what you left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town;

It isn't the town—it's you.
You wouldn't expect, if you mined your soil,
Bumper crops that you used to get;
Nor aught but runts from feeding that stunts;
Nor payment without a debt,
One gets returns from what he earns—
Something must first be due.
If your town doesn't pay, look at it this way:
It isn't the town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid
That others will get ahead.
When every one works and nobody shirks,
You can raise a town from the dead,
And if, while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbors can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want it to be;
It isn't the town—it's you.

MISS MARTHA MCCLURE
WINS APPLAUSE

State University students, Lexington, Kentucky, presented the grand old DeKoven opera, "Robin Hood," Wednesday evening of last week, before an audience that filled the largest opera house in the city.

The Lexington Herald, in its write-up of this tuneful romantic drama, says: "Students of State University presented the grand old DeKoven opera, 'Robin Hood,' with so marked ability and talent that it must be written down in local amateur history as the most notable musical offering ever attempted by Lexington students. Be it said to their credit, they not only handled the opera masterfully, but excelled in many respects professional companies that have given the piece here within the last fifteen or twenty years."

"It would be impracticable in the case of a cast so large, in which the players were so evenly matched, to attempt adequate comparative criticism or review of their various roles, but of the many of these, Martha McClure, attractive daughter of Dr. W. B. McClure and Mrs. McClure, this city, in the role of Maid Marian, not only looked the gracious part of the sweetheart of Robin Hood, but sang all her numbers in charming voice, setting the action gracefully to the lines. Her part in the play was an outstanding feature."

Miss McClure is a frequent visitor in Louisa and has many friends here among our young people. She is a niece of Hon. R. C. McClure and Mrs. T. J. Snyder.

WILL FEED PRISONERS ON RATION SYSTEM

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—Feeding of prisoners in the Kentucky State Reformatory here soon is to be based on the ration system used in the United States army and the Federal Prison at Atlanta, according to Superintendent W. H. Moyer. Mr. Moyer is now working on the plan and has asked the War Department for its table of food values as used in the army.

"The plan which I originally put in to effect in Atlanta contemplates balancing the ration, as to the number of calories as well as the taste," said Mr. Moyer. "It contemplates feeding of the prisoners according to the needs of their bodies instead of giving them what some one thinks makes a good meal. The buying of food also is based on an outline of rations needed and made up in advance."

30 KENTUCKIANS NAMED FOR POSTMASTERSHIPS

Washington, Jan. 20.—President Wilson sent to the Senate today the nominations of thirty Kentuckians for postmasterships. The nominations cover recess appointments, offices that have recently become Presidential in grade, and new appointments to fill vacancies. Because of the embargo which the Republican majority in the Senate has placed on nominations, with the exception of original appointments in the army, will be confirmed during the remaining days of the Wilson Administration. It is not expected that any of these postoffice nominations will be confirmed.

On December 8 the President sent a list of nearly 2,000 postoffice nominations to the Senate, including those of twenty-eight Kentuckians, but none of these has been confirmed. Along with the thirty sent to the Senate today this makes a total of fifty-eight Kentuckians whose nominations for postmasterships are pending in the Senate, with little likelihood of confirmation.

REWARD OF $500 FOR ARREST OF NIGHT RIDERS

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—Governor Morrow has indicated that if requested by the Fleming county authorities, which he expects, he will offer a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of any one of a dozen men who called at the home of a truck driver named Tomlin, near Sherburne, Saturday night and warned him not to haul any more tobacco to market.

The circumstance was officially reported to the Governor by Fleming county authorities. The Governor already has requested Circuit Judge Henry Prewitt to impanel a special grand jury to look into alleged night riding, and says he will call out troops and ask for Federal troops if necessary to put an end to such practices.

FIRE RISK RATE FALLS IN STATE.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 19.—Rerating by the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau, in the opinion of J. Al Steltenkamp of the Department of Fire Prevention and Rates, will result in a reduction in most insurance rates.

Representatives of the department are following up the inspection, advising on the removal of hazards for which "after rates" are affixed to the basic insurance rates. This work will not be finished for several months.

In his semi-annual report to State Auditor John J. Craig, Mr. Steltenkamp said that forty-one towns, including the Big Sandy coal district, have been inspected and rerated since July and reductions in insurance obtained, ranging from 10 to 50 per cent. The towns include Boyd, Betsy Lane, Big Sandy district, Harlan, Paintsville, Hitchens, Inez and Harold.

Dwellings beyond the corporate limits of protected towns, but within 1,000 feet of a fire hydrant by road, now receive the same rates as dwellings within the city. The same rule applies to meacantile risks within 500 feet of a hydrant. If the fire department includes a pumper, mercantile risks may be extended to 1,000 feet. A marked reduction in many instances is reported.

During the six months ending December 31 there were 594 fires in Kentucky, of which ten were reported as incendiary and 107 unknown. Three convictions of arson were obtained, while eleven investigations are pending.

GRIFFITH, NOTED DESPERADO, BOATED PAST HUNTINGTON

W. H. Griffith, West Virginia's most noted desperado, who recently escaped from the penitentiary after he had killed a fellow prisoner and fired the penitentiary through Huntington two nights ago, enroute from Point Pleasant where he is said to have stolen a motor boat and killed its owner, Ira Roush, a riverman from Antiquity, O.

According to details of the story from Pt. Pleasant, a man answering Griffith's description appeared there last week and began negotiations for the purchase of Roush's motorboat.

Later Roush and his motorboat disappeared. The boat was subsequently recovered at Portsmouth, O., authorities there believing that it was abandoned at that point by the murderer who took to the hills.

Several nights ago rivermen at the Tenth street ferry admitted seeing a mysterious motorboat, slipping silently down-stream near the middle of the river. The lone occupant refused to answer hail but increased the speed of the boat and vanished in the darkness. This man is believed to have been Griffith, escaping after he had killed Roush.

Although armed searching parties have scoured the country around Pt. Pleasant, no trace of the missing man or the escaped convict could be found. Authorities believe he has made good his escape but are confident that sooner or later he will be apprehended.—Huntington Herald-Dispatch.

OIL MEN ARE NEXT.

Letters to the coal dealers in Eastern Kentucky and an address before the meeting of the Appalachian Association, held Friday in Knoxville, has brought the European Relief Council fund for starving children in Eastern Europe to their attention. The miners of Eastern Kentucky will be informed of the conditions, and now an effort is on foot to gain the co-operation of the Kentucky oil men for the great child-feeding fund.

A letter has been mailed from Kentucky headquarters to James W. Turner at Paintsville requesting him to bring the matter to the attention of the Eastern Kentucky Oil Men's Association.

"Laughter and joy in children has a quantitative relationship to the number of calories we stuff into them," says Herbert Hoover, National Chairman of the European Relief. "We may be happy in the thought that every meal served to a child in Europe brings a ripple of laughter and a sequel of joy. This is not an occupation of tragedy and gloom."

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 25.—More than 100 of the 120 county superintendents of Kentucky are here at the annual convocation in the House of Representatives chamber which opened yesterday. Governor Morrow and State Superintendent George Colvin addressed the meeting Monday.

Mr. Colvin recalled that thirty years of gradual decline in all that goes to make a good system of education placed Kentucky forty-sixth among States in the rank of schools in 1918. Only about 37 per cent of the children were in school and the system faced a shortage of 2,250 teachers, he said. This year through co-operative effort, by which county superintendents reported to the State Superintendent whatever vacancies existed or extra teachers were in his county, the schools were taught and 80 per cent of the children were in school.

YOU CAN'T DODGE IT

Once in Awhile Your Blood Clogs and Your Vitality Runs Down.

THEN TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN.

You'll Pick Up Again Quickly with Plenty of Red Blood Corpuscles.

Physicians nowadays take a blood test when you are run down. They count the red corpuscles in your blood. If these are too few they give you a tonic for your blood. It happens right along. They are always on the lookout for indications of weak blood.

Why? Because they know when your blood is weak your resistance to disease is low. Your vitality and energy quickly run down.

You can tell when your blood is weak. You look pale, feel tired. You are not ill, but you don't feel right. You don't want to do things. That is the time to take the well-known tonic, Pepto-Mangan.

Pepto-Mangan builds red blood corpuscles. Physicians have prescribed it for thirty years.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in liquid and tablet form. The medicinal value is exactly the same. Take either kind you prefer. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package. (Adv.)
